It is obvious to any reflecting man that our institutions are so framed that the voice of a majority will control the policy of the Federal Government. The majority of Congressional districts control one House; the majority of the States elect a President and control the Senate. It may happen that the majority of the popular vote will ot determine the result; but sooner or later this will be corrected. The numerical majority will make itself felt at last A minority can never permanently control the country. Public opinion will rule delibera-

Now, this rebellion is one of a majority robelling against a power they can at last control themselves. Our institutions are no framed that majorities can not always execute their purposes immediately. There are checks to protect minorities against popular excilements; but they will not stand against the sober second thought. They hold the question up till redoction has time to accomplish its work on the country.

At the last Presidential election, the party that succeeded in electing a President was in a minority of about a million of the nopular vote. Of course our fathers social board? foresaw that this would happen sometimes, and, indeed, frequently; but such a result could not materially affect the policy of the

Both Houses of Congress represented the S. F. Milier, opposite politics from that of the party electing a President. BIG SANDY RIVER, PIKETON, KY., June 3, 1862. The detachment of the 18th Brigade, consisting of the 40th Ohio, 16th Kentucky, and Major McLaughlin's squadron of cavto result in poor fare, and but little of it, to the soldiers who are imprisoned in this wee-begone region. Land transportation is out of the question. As to roads along Sandy river, they are in the condition of the hair of the head of that classic individual known as "Uncle Ned." There are no "roads" where the "roads" used to be-they have all been washed away by the winter freshets. I cannot opine why regiments so well appointed, disciplined and drilled, should in these stirring times be kept in a state of such inglorious inactivity. The 40th Ohio is a splendid looking regiment. ment, and has seen some service and are impatient to see more. The 16th Kentucky fought bravely, and were victorious in the the whole rebel battie of Ivy Mountain. They both desire that the proper military authorities should doose them and let them go" where there is something to do. It will be hard to find two regiments in better condition for service, and under better commanders, than those at this point, where there is nothing to do. The 16th Kentucky, formerly Col. Charles A. Marshall's regiment, who, to the sincere regret of his command, was on account of his health, compelled to resign his position, is now commanded by Col. J. W. Craddock—a tried—a brave man—a man who was sought for the place, because of his eminent fitness for the position. A member of the Military Board went for him, and took him away from the head of his command from before Corinth, where he was waiting to encounter the rehal forces.

On his way down stream, Commodore Farragut's boat was fired at several times, was waiting to encounter the rebel forces, We received him as our commander most gladly-with confidence in his bravery, which has been tried, and is known and read of by many. He is a military man of heart and brans. Give him, in his present position, the opportunity, and room ac-cording to his strength, and then let his deeds speak for him. Colonel Cranor recently sent out a scout of Major McLaughlin's cavalry, consisting of seventy men. They left here on the 28th of May, and were absent, in all, six days. They first visited Letcher county, Ky.—a place where the parifying influence of such a visit was much needed, and where they did much good. In this county they captured eleven men, some of them belonging to the rebel army, and six horses. They killed one man and captured another, both killed one man and captured another, both of whom were rebel spies. The prisoners captured were sent to Piketon, in charge of a sufficient escort, while the main body of measure of emancipation. Such a resolution was adopted by both honses, and so offer by Congress. the scouting party, under their commander, Captain McFall, of the First Squadron of Ohio cavalry, went into Wise county, Va. Here they fell in with a number of returning soldiers belonging to the rebel army They captured ten of them, among them lientenant; also a traitor preacher, belong-ing to the Methodist Episcopal Church uth, who is represented as being a very mischievovs man. Instead of preaching the Gospel of Salvation to dying sinners he has preached treason, and in this way failed to succeed by moral sussion, he has not failed to use force, compelling young men to go into the secesh army. They also took six horses and one mule, between forty and fifty muskets and rifles, besides a now numbers of troops of our own people secession and backs up the action of Gen. large amount of rebel money, a specimen of which I enclose to you. They burned Gladesville, the county seat of Wise county, and recently the headquarters of the notorious Humphrey Marshall. This place has been the seat of rebel iniquity and treason in that part of Virginia, a place where se-ceah robbers were harbored and felt them-selves secure. This was a very successful Union soldiers ever in those counties since the rebellion. Both men and horses had to during their absence, without food of any kind for man or beast. On their return they detected a force lying in ambush at the Pound Gap to intercept their passage, but they sent-forward skirmishers, who dispersed the seeesh scamps, and they pro-ceeded on their way unmolested. ceeded on their way unmolested.

rams ready for launching." WASHINGTON, June 4. Notice has been given to the various churches, without regard to denomination, that their edifices will be used for military hospitals if necessary.

It is ascertained from a gentleman who arrived to-day from Gen. Fremont's army, that arrangements have been made by which to promptly send them the requisite commissary and quartermaster stores. The men suffered much, not from forced marches, over mountainous roads, but from the scarcity of supplies. There were, however, no serious complaints, and they are all in cheerful spirits.

New York, June 14.

We take the following from New Orleans Delta, of May 30th:

We understand from Morgan below, that Mobile was surrendered to the mortar fleet on Thursday.

The New Orleans Delta, of May 31st, says, for several days back ramors have been current in this city to the effect that our navy has suffered in a conflict up the river, and that Gen. William's brig had been badly cut up. The facts are these, on the 26th inst., while the forces under Gen. Williams were descending the river they were fired upon when off Grand Gulf, by a field battery of four guns; one man was killed and one office. Wounded.

The gunboat Kince then opened on the camp, and the battery, with its camp, about a mile and a half in the rear of the town, was thereby persuaded to leave.

Four companies of the Fourth Wisconsin, under Major Boardman, were landed to destroy the camps. These forces came up as the rebels were leaving their guns and tents having preceded them. A few shots only were exchanged, and the pitrestit discontinued at night. One of the Union troops was roct.

Louisville Legion.

[For the Louisville Democrat.] At a regular meeting of Aznr Lodge No 25, I. O. O. F., held at Odd Fellows' Hall, June 10, 1862, the following preamble and resolutions were adopted and ordered to be published in the city papers:

published in the city papers:

WHEREAS, Asur Lodge, having been called to pay the last tribute of respect to Brother Francis M. Atkinson, who for a long time had been an honored and beloved member, would inscribe upon its records the following resolutions in expression of its appreciation of the worth of the departed, and of the greatness of the loss sustained in his death:

Recolved, That our Brother Atkinson, by his integrity and uprightness, his thoughtful kindness and constant charities, uncertualitiesly and beamfailly filustrated the great principles of our order.

Recolved, That while we feel keenly, and deeply deplore the calamity which has befallen our brother hood in the removal of a member so true-hearted and faithful, we are grateful to Almighty God that He permitted our brother to be with the for many years, that He enabled bim to live a life of great activity and useriuness, and to meet an early death with Christian trust and peace.

Editors Democrat: Permit me through the columns of your paper to return my grate-ful thanks to Captain Batchelor, of the steamer Emma Duncan, and his officers, together with the gentlemen forming the San itary Commission of said boat, for their kind attention to me during the passage from Hamburg, Tennessee.

To Dr. Smith, of Columbns, Ohio, I am under many obligations; and, had it not been for his kindness of heart, it would have been impossible for me to have brought the body of Lieut. Jones to this place. To the entire commission I render my humble thanks, and state in conclusion that the noble State of Ohio may never fear for her sick and wounded soldiers when placed in such hands. J. H. BRISTOW, in such hands. Chaplain Louisville Legion. [Journal and Cincinnati papers please

From the Savannah Republican, May 30. RUMORED FIGHT.

It was currently rumored on the streets yesterday afternoon that a skirmish or battle took place at some point on or near the Savannah and Charleston Railroad—it was supposed in the vicinity of Podotaglio, South Carolina. We have no reliable information on the subject, but we credit the report. The train due from Charleston at five P. M. did not arrive.

THE ENEMY BELOW. Two or three of the enemy's gunboats were on yesterday lying in the Savannsh river just below Fort Jackson. They were in motion occasionally, but mostly at anchor.

Will be found at Hyatt's Depot, No. 113, for sale at a hours during the day in large or small quantities. bon observations below, the enemy may be preparing to execute his long threatened attack.

this movement is a feint, while the attack will be made on Charleston, we will remark that at no time during the war has the enemy made a feint by water. Confident of his strength, he has invariably advanced not boldly up to the mark.

(From the Sevannah News, May 30.) THE UNION FORCES IN SAVANNAH RIVER.
The Yankee gunboats mentioned by us as being in the river below Fort Jackson on Wednesday, were still in view yesterday, but had taken positions further down, near Tennessee creek. It is thought by some that the boats were engaged in removing their batteries on Oakly Island, and large volumes of white smoke rising in that rection, yesterday afternoon, induced the belief that they were burning their cabins at their abandoned batteries. Others are of opinion that the steamers brought men and guns for the erection of batteries on Elba Island, with a view to shell our batteries. [From the Savannah News, May 30.]

WAR MOVEMENTS.
The cars on the Charleston Railroad, due here at five o'clock in the afternoon, had not arrived at the time of our going press with our evening edition, nine o'clock. It was rumored in the city at noon that the enemy had landed a considerable force in Carolina, and were advancing on Pocotaligo. Other indications authorize us to believe the current rumor in the street, that fighting is going on in that vicinity, which accounts for the non-arrival of the Charles-

Some of our citizens inform us that they heard heavy firing in the direction of cotaligo last evening. THE UNION GUNBOATS SHELLING THE REBEI BATTERIES BELOW THE CITY.

[From the Charleston Mercury, May 31.] The stir caused by the news from Poco-taligo yesterday afternoon was considerably increased by the news that the enemy's gunboats, after entering Stono Inlet, were at their usual work a few miles below the city. It appears that five gunboats, one of which appeared to be iron-olad, and without masts, steamed up Stono river with the flood tide yesterday morning. They threw a few shell near the camps at Seccasionville, proving conclusively that our troops there were within range of the gunboats. The Yankees my CRITTENDEN & GANTT, West side Third, near Main. then shelled the steamer DeKalb, forcing her to retire under the guns of Fort Pem-

Yesterday afternoon, at flood tide, the steamers began shelling our battery at Newton Cut, and the fire was returned. No casualties are reported on our side. One shot from our battery was plainly seen to out down a mast, and other damage was probably done aboard the gunboats, as our practice was good. This battery was in charge of Captain Smith, Company F, White battalion. Lieutenant T. G. White assisted in the command of the battery.

The negroes have been removed from the Island, and the cattle are being driven

At sunset last evening the enemy's gun boats still remained anchored in the vicinity of our batteries, and it is probable that they will reopen fire this morning.

Let all who read the following heartrending story remember that they are tracing the works of the fiend of Soccession. Rebellion did it all, and on the head of every rebel in the land rests the guilt of this and thousands of similar scenes:

DEATH IN THE CAMP .- As we advance into these regions a variety of diseases are becoming ruinously prevalent. Fever and ague, jaundice, diarrhea, and many types of fevers are thinning the ranks of the differ-ent regiments fearfully. I will not attempt to describe the pictures of the poor men as they drag themselves through camp. The toughest looking ones seem to be the greatest sufferers. Last evening I paid a visit to a physician friend of mine, and accepted an invitation to partake of the luxuries of his extra cot. About one o'clock we were aroused by the cry of—"Doctor, the Cap-lain's dying!" The doctor immediately dressed himself sparsely, and I accompanied him to a private tent, where lay a ro-bust looking officer. The doctor bade me rub his stomach and legs with a coarse towel, while he forced quinine and wine into him. In a few minntee the man became partially sensible, and inquired of the Lieutenant Colonel, who had just arrived: "What is the matter? There's something wrong, Colonel—don't deceive me—I'm in a dangerous condition. I've been asleep, Colonel, and there's something wrong. O God! my wife and children! Don't let me die for their sake! You know I've got my leave of absence, for the doctor says Gen. Buell has aigned the papers."
Lieut. Colonel—"Yes, Captain, you have been very low; but the doctor says he will save you; he has gone for an emetic."

Captain—"Colonel, there is no use in my dying here, when treatment at home would save me. It would kill my wife. I am afraid the doctor has not procured my fur-lough—he is only deceiving me to quiet

Let me assure you the scene was touching in the extreme. The poor man did not seem really afraid to die, but desired to live for the sake of his wife and little ones. He had presented his papers for a leave of absence, which had not been returned although the doctor assured him that everything was all right; that General Buell had signed the document.

The doctor worked arduously for several hours, assisted by the staff officers, to save the Captain's life, and before daylight he exhibited symptoms of recovery. About 9 o'clock, however, the unhappy man again became dangerous, and shortly before 10 passed from terrestrial scenes, his last words being, "and can't see my little boy, neither."

I shall ever remember the dying Captain and his last words—"and can't see my little boy, neither."—Letter to Phil. Press.

The Richmond correspondence of the Memphis Appeal, published at Grenada, Miss., dated June 2d, gives an account of the great battle. The correspondent says the First Virginia was annihilated, bringing only twenty-six men out of action. He says Gen. Joe Johnston was slightly wounded in the shoulder. He says, also:

field on Sunday.

I need not undertake to describe the ap pearance of our city, nor the manner in which the people of Richmond have met the duties of this trying hour. All business is suspended. Every house is a hospital, and but one thought occupies the public mind—how the brave defenders of the Capital, who are suffering from the enemy's well directed fire, shall be made comfortable.

He accounts for the falling back of rebels on Sunday as follows: Our troops fell back last night

DESCRIPTION OF THE "LOUISVILLE REAPER."

DESORIPTION OF THE "LOUISVILLE MOWER."

THIS MACHINE IS MADE ALMOST ENTIRELY OF IRON; IT IS EXCEPTINGLY COMPACT AND SIMPLE, AND STRONG BEYOND ANY POSSIBILITY OF DEVALUE, It tots a swant 4 feet 4 inches wide, and cuts even and smooth in all kinds of grees. It has a lever for rai-ing the singer-bar from the ground for passing betructions, or for moving from gold to seld. It is arranged to throw tissif each of grear when backing, and is convenient to handle in overy respect. It weights about 600 counds, which is beavier than several of the newly invented Machines, but none too heavy, we think, to stand the rodge and carriess usage to which all Mowers are miles. The importal loose and these two which all Mowers are

Office of Kentucky Agricultural Works, Market Street, between Preeton and Jackson. We commenced the mannfacture of Harvesters last season, with the belief that we could furnish Machines better suited to the wants of our Fermers than any already introduced. Our plan is so make separate, not combined, Machines; when made for the special purpose, they can be simple, cheap, and do able, white combined they are necessarily complex and contry, and generally, after one season's nee, ont of order. We made but few Mechines for last harvest, but the east of heard from performed well, as the certificates which we offer in our descriptive circular, for m those who have had experience with Harvesters, will show. Circulars mailed free upon application. A. H. PATCH & CO,

Sewing Machine! WARBANTED THE BEST IN THE MARKET. lias Howe, Jr., and S. H. Roper's Combined Patents. tle, and Periphery Clamp Feed-Wheel.

THESE SEWING MACHINES COMBINE THE most recent improvements, are nearly noiseless when in operation, run with the greatest case and rapidity, and are better adapted for general purposes and family use than any other. They are not liable to get out of order, are acceedingly simple, and are made expressly for real practical utility; they do every variety of sewing, from the finest woven fisue to the heaviest wooken goods, both tailoring and fine leather work. Any person may learn to operate them in a very short time. The great difficulty with all other old-style Machin

The great difficulty with all other old-style Machines is too much complication, requiring so much constant adjustment, and such an amount of mechanical skill and ingenuity to use them to alvantage, as to render them of little comparative value.

But the Sawing Machines mannfactured by Greenman & True are not liable to these objections, as any person, on even a moment's examination, will readily discover. They will do more and better work than any other Machine ever eitered to the public, making the most beautiful lock-stitch, alike on both sides. Send for an off-hand specimen of sewing upon any material you wish, and you will then see How it is done.
